

CACVA Regional Peer Review 2017

Children's Advocacy Centers of Virginia assembles regional peer review opportunities for professionals in the state of Virginia. Peer review is meant for forensic interviewers, law enforcement, child protective services and any other agencies who routinely interview children within the context of an investigation of child abuse, neglect or witnesses to violence. Research shows peer review is the best way for interviewers to sharpen their skills.

Peer review includes:

- Watching and/or listening to recorded interviews or transcripts
- Critique of forensic interview
- Hot topics in investigations involving children
- Research and trends in interviewing children
- Information sharing from conferences or trainings attended
- Problem solving difficult interviews

RSVP to the contact person if you plan to attend one of the following peer reviews for more specifics:
